

I am writing on behalf of K-LOVE. I waited for 13 years to be able to listen to K-LOVE in my hometown. Whenever I traveled to Metroplexes, I would tune to K-LOVE as soon as I was within range. Duncan finally received a signal through translator service. It grieves my heart to think that I may lose my favorite radio station because of the LPFM proposal that is before the FCC.

K-Love is a radio station that cares about people. They inform the people of how to meet the diversified needs of people from all over.

They offer prayer service 4 times a day. Their commitment to minister to all their listeners is an example for others.

When I listen to K-Love, I am encouraged. The music chases the blues away. K-LOVE is one of the most positive and encouraging radio stations that I have ever heard. The music played on K-Love puts things in proper perspective.

I know many that listen to K-Love in Duncan, OK. I can still remember the excitement when the news spread that K-Love could be heard in Duncan and be heard without interference and static. K-Love could be heard clearly! I cannot describe the thrill that was in my heart when I heard this news. I know I was not the only resident in Duncan and the surrounding area with this elation.

If LPFM are allowed priority and it causes me to lose my K-Love signal, I really will be very brokenhearted. This station keeps my heart and soul singing with joy.

The positive broadcast of the news is refreshing. They always try to find positive news stories. Stories about how someone is helping someone or how someone is going beyond the call of duty. They encourage support of our troops wherever they are. They challenge us to be responsible citizens of the United States by exercising our incredible privilege to vote for our government leaders. I wish there was some way to show how many people have registered to vote because of K-Love's encouragement to do so.

I have listened to K-Love nearly every day since last fall. I feel that I know their radio personnel. If I hadn't been so busy with a fundraiser when John and Sherry were in OKC, I would have driven to OKC just to give John and Sherry a great big "Thank you." That is how much I appreciate K-LOVE.

I believe that K-Love's programming keeps many people upbeat. This has to affect the productivity of the people in the communities that K-Love is heard. There is no way of knowing exactly the effect of K-Love on its communities but it has to be great. If only a 100 people in Duncan keep an upbeat attitude because of K-Love, it is worth allowing K-Love to keep its position/power on the broadcasting band. But I am very confident that there are many more than a thousand people in the Duncan area that are encouraged by K-Love's programming.

I plead with the FCC not to change the way translator stations are treated. Duncan is a small community. We count on translator stations to give us quality radio broadcasting.

Thank you for reading my comments and giving them strong consideration.

Sincerely,
J'Nell Ash
